Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette

The Copperheads won another victory in the House to-day, the bill providing for an election to determine whether a Constitutional Convertion shall be called having passed the House by a vote of one to forty-four, being one ma seventy-one to forty-four, being one man more than a constitutional majority. The election is to be held on the first Tuesday in May. It is not believed this bill can pass the Senate, but even though enough Liberals who were elected on a tack un-derstanding that they would favor such a bill can be got to vote for and carry it, it is still the opinion of the Republicans that it can be defeated before the people. The ocrats have shown such Republican officer in the State. This purpose has been concealed as much as possible, of course, but the undercurrents point strongly in this direction, and can not much longer be kept out of sight. When this is fully realized by the people the Democratic party will not only lose the partial power it gained in the last election, but be swept almost out of existence in this State.

On Monday morning last, a man named Frazier, connected with the firm of Riley & Co., in Wheeling, while crossing the bridge over George's Creek in Westernport, Md., was knocked off by a train of cars. He was carried swiftly down the rapid stream into the Potomac. The last seen of him was near the Catholic Church. All efforts to rescue him proved unavailing.
